[From Our Regular Correspondent.] WASHINGTON, June 30 .- The only feature in to-day's proceedings worthy of mention occurred during the morning hour when the committees were being called. The long looked-for report of the Pan-Electric investigators was presented by Mr. Poyle, signed by mself and three other sturdy Democrats. Mr. Ranney presented the views of the Republicans, and Mr. Hale, of Missouri, his own individual opinions. Mr. Boyle . had appended to his report a resolution declaring that the charges, newspaper and otherwise, made against Attorney-General Garland. The resolution had attached the signa-The resolution, however, had never been brought up at a meeting of the committee, Mr. Boyle having obtained the signatures by personal visitation to the signers. A point of order was made on the resolution on this ground, although it is not an uncommon of doing committee business. Boyle then asked to withdraw the report for the purpose of overcoming this informality, and the page was in the act of passing back the pa-pers when Mr. Hale, the gentleman who submits his own views, but who had signed the resolution of exoneration, from some motive or other entered an objection, and stuck to it notwithstanding the pleadings of his Democratic friends. This action, of course prevents the resolutions from becoming a part of the report, nor are they the property of the House, subject to action by it. What possible object Mr. Hale could have in his course does not appear, unless perchance he wished to go back on his signature to the The House then went into committee for the farther consideration of the sundry civil bill, but rose temperarily to pass a joint resolution continuing the old appropriations for the new fiscal year until the present quota of bills become laws.

Mr. Johnston, of North Carolina,

this morning called up and succeeded in securing the passage of a bill introdused by his colleague, Mr. Reid, on May 18th, for the relief of the trustees of the Judson Female College, of Hendersonville, N. The Senate proceeded to the consideration of Mr. Platt's resolution for public executive sessions, and the speech of Mr. Morrill (who is sick and absent) sgainst the proposed change was read by Mr. Manderson. Mr. Morrill thought that his friend from Connecticut, Mr. Platt, was, in this matter, "immensely

At the conclusion of the reading of Mr. Morrill's speech Mr. Hoar spoke at great length in opposition to Mr. Platt's resolution. When he had concluded two pension vetoes were laid before the Senate and referred to the Pension Committee. The conference report on the con-

The Senate here proceeded to the consideration of the legislative appropriation bill. In the course of the discussion on amendments increasing the clerical force of some of the Departments Mr. Beck declared that he felt humiliated by the fact that many of the appropriations were diminished so that members of the House might be able to go to the country and say how economical they were and how extravagant the Senate was. He also criticised the House for its delay in passing the appropriation bills. The sundry civil appropriation bill was not yet sent to Senate. The legislative in its present condition on the last day of the fiscal year. The naval bill had not yet been considered. The defibill had not been looked at. He was not proud of the record.

Mr. Plumb said that the House took Il the time it needed, and then it inched the appropriation bills on the Senate without giving the Senate time to consider them. The legislative bill uld have had much more consideration than the Senate Appropriations Committee had been able to give it. It had to take many things blindly. He ught it would be a good idea for the Senate and House to remain in session till September, October, or November. until every item in the appropriation bills had been fully scrutinized

The conference report on the District of Columbia appropriation bill was sub-mitted and explained by Mr. Plumb, and was agreed to.

After disposing of forty-six pages of the legislative bill the Senate had a brief executive session, and at 6 P. M. took a recess until 8 P. M.

At its evening session the Senate re-sumed the consideration of the legislative appropriation bill, but took no final action upon it.

Mr. Boyd, from the Pan-Electric Committee, submitted a report signed by four members of the committee upon the subject of its investigation. It is Revolved, That a full, fair, and exbaustive investigation has failed to adduce any evidence which tends to show that Attorney-General Garland, Solicitor-General Goode, Secretary Lamar, Indian-Commissioner Atkins, Railroad-Commissioner Akins, kalifoad-Commissioner Johnston, or Senator Harris—they being the officers named in the Pan-Electric publications of the newspaper press which gave rise to this investigation—did any act, official or otherwise, connected with the matter investigated which was dishonest, dis-conorable, or censurable. The report and resolution (which is concurred in by Mr. Hale) were referred to the House calendar.

Mr. Ranney, of Massachusetts, also submitted a report signed by four Republican members of the committee.

Mr. Hale, of Missouri, presented his individual views. These reports were placed upon the calendar.

Mr. Reed, of Maine, reserved all the points of order against the resolution accompanying Mr. Boyle's report; and Mr. Ranney, stating that the resolution had never been submitted to the committee or acted upon by it, also reserved Mr. Boyle said that the resolution had been presented with the consent of the gentleman from Massachusetts, who had expressly waived any meeting of Mr. Ranney replied that that was rue as far as the report was concerned, but he had never seen or heard of the resolution before. Mr. Boyle thereupon asked to with-draw the report and resolution, but

Mr. Hale objected. After a few committee reports the House went into Committee of the Whole on the sundry civil appropriation bill. The committee arose for the purpose of enabling Mr. Randall to present, and the House to pass, a joint resolution to provide for ten days from to-day (the last day of the fiscal year for the expenditures of the Govern-ment not provided for in appropriation bills already passed. This having been done, the committee resumed its session.

DUEL TO THE DEATH. Fatal Fight Between Mortal Enemies

in Texas.
[By telegraph to the Dispatch.] CHICAGO, ILL., June 30 .- A Gates ville (Tex.) special says: James Cooper and Joseph Van Winkle fought an informal duel with revolvers yesterday on Brown creek, in Coryell county. Both were fatally wounded. Cooper was shot in the head and died in a few minutes, and Van Winkle was shot through the bowels and has since died. Cooper and Van Winkle were mortal enemies, having quarrelled about a year ago over some cattle. Yesterday they met on Brown creek, and, after some hot words, they agreed to fight to the death. They measured off the ground, and each, with his watch in his hand, waited for the moment agreed upon for opening fire. At the appointed time two shots rang out almost simultaneously. Van Winkle had received his wound, but Cooper was not scratched. Another round was fired, and Cooper fell with a bullet in his brain. This is the story told by Van Winkle before his death. The firing attracted some herders about a mile distant, and they cared for the wounded man until he died. Base-Ball Yesterday [By telegraph to the Dispatch.] Pittsburgh: Pittsburghs, 12; Athetics, 3.

Grand and Imposing Ceremonies in the Baltimore Cathedral Yesterday-The Orders from Rome.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.] BALTIMORE, June 30 .- Baltimore became this morning the Cardinal city of the United States, and Archbishop Gibbons was invested with the scarlet beretta with all the magnificent ceremonial of the Roman liturgy and splendid pomp befitting his exalted rank as Prince of the Holy Catholic Church.

Just twenty-five years ago to-day James Gibbons was ordained a priest in the chapel of St. Mary's Seminary, in this city, by Archbishop Kenrick, and on this, his silver jubilee, he re-ceived from the hends of the venerable Archbishop of St. Louis the insignia of his high dignity. The ceremony took place in the noble old Cathedral, in which, as Apostolic Delegate, he so recently directed the deliberations of the Plenary Council-the most notable gathering of divines this country has ever seer.—and in which has taken place many of the most imposing religious ceremonies that have occurred in the United States. The head of the procession entered the church at 10:40 o'clock. The students occupied the south aisle and the seminarians the left, while the clergy had chairs in the centre fronting the entrance to the sanctuary. Pontifical high mass was celebrated by Arch-bishop Williams, of Boston. On reachng the sanctuary Monsigner Straniero occupied a seat to the left of the en-trance, and by his side was Count Muccioli, the Noble Guard, who stood throughout the entire ceremony. beretta was deposited on a table and covered with a crimson cloth. The prelates occupied both sides of the sanctuary while Cardinal Gibbons took the throne. During the mass Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, made an address on the life of the new ardinal and the Church in its relations to the Government. Rev. Brandi, secretary to Monsignor Straniero, the Papal Ablegate, presented to Arch-bishop Kenrick, the legate appointed by the Pope.

MOVEMENT TO THE PALACE. The weather was cloudy but pleasant, and long before the hour appointed for the ceremony the streets near the Cathedral were thronged with people. He wore a short coat of scarlet cloth, heavily trimmed with gold cord, tight-fitting chamois trousers, with boots, spurs and sword. In his hand he carried th showy gold helmet of the guards. He walked erect, and with his dignified bearing was the most conspicuous figure in the procession. The bishops and archbishops were their robes of royal purple, and many were attended by train-bearers. In rear of the Cardinal were boys carry ing his train, and the custodians of the signia of his rank.

The master of ceremonies was Rev. J. S. McCullen, of St. Mary's Seminary, who officiated at all the ceremo nies of the late Plenary Council, and who is considered the highest authority on Roman ceremonials in this country Lord Baltimore Council, No. 45, C. B. L., brought up the rear of the line.

THE SWITCHMEN'S STRIKE. The lituation at Chicago Yesterday The Troubles Not Over Yet.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)
CHICAGO, June 30.—The usual two ar-loads of Pinkerton's men arrived a Root atreet shortly after 7 o'clock this morning, and business was immediately started by the Lake-Shore Company. The entire Pinkerton force, with the exarmed with rifles, and a guard was sen out with every train and accompanied it to Colebour. The trouble at the stock-yards last evening, while not serious in itself, is looked upon by the officials as an indication of a new source of danger. The employees of the packing-houses numbering 10,000, are in thorough sympathy with the strikers, and as the now leave work at 4:30 P. M. their presence in the neighborhood of the wreck is thought to be somewhat menacing. The switchmen employed by other roads in the stock-yards are not trusted implicitly by the Lake-Shore officials, who are opinion that any one of them would embrace an opportunity of turning a switch under a moving train. From Chicago to Miller's station, thirty miles, fences switch-houses, and telegraph-poles are decorated with posters offering $500 reward for the arrest and conviction o any one violating that section of the statutes which prohibits interference with the property of a railroad company by any outsider. The strikers laugh at the notice, and think it absurd to suppose that any of their number would turn informer for the sake of any reward. While there seems to be no likelihood of any trouble to-day, except perhaps at the stock-yards, there is considerable anxiety manifested on both sides as to the probable action to be taken by the Lake Shore switchmen at other points. The yardmaster of the Toledo yards has been in Chicago since the commencement of the strike, and yesterday received dispatches from some lay as a strike seemed imminent. He left for Toledo last night. It seems evident from the events o yesterday afternoon and evening that the Lake Shore strikers are determined to make a long and bitter fight. Many railroad employees sympathize with the strikers, and express the belief that the strike has only begun, and that the company will not be able to hold out with the necessary force of deputies as long as the strikers will be able to annoy them. On the other hand the officials of the road declare their determination to go straight forward on the present line and fight the battle to the end if it takes a thousand policemen to accomplish a complete victory. The whole strength of the strikers is now evidently directed toward the transfer business, especially to thwarting the attempts of th Lake Shore Company to deliver freights to other lines. The shot fired by the Pinkerton guard at the man who derailed two cars by throwing switch under a moving train last evening caused great excitementamong the switchmen and their friends and many threats were made. A morning paper says that in the crowd at Packerstown last night there were dozens who openly declared that the

of his trusted men at home saying his

Lake Shore should not deliver another train to any line in those yards, and that if it was attempted to-day blood would be shed. One man said: "That --- loafer who fired into this crowd will go to jail to-night, and if he shows his nose in these parts again I'll make a pepper-box out of his carcass. We will teach these fellows, with their big guns, that there are crack shooters in these parts, and before another twentyfour hours there will be a dead Pinker ton man on these tracks, or I'm a liar.' Sympathizers with the strikers are very outspoken. George Dalton, the Pinker-ton man who did the shooting, was arrested and afterwards released on bail

The facts as subsequently ascertained more accurately were that an over-issue of bonds to the amount of $615,260 was made on the thirty-year mortgage loan of the company of July 1856 for $2,800,000. The loan matures to-morrow, and pre parations having been made for its extension, the return of bonds for certification at the office to-day would have revealed the over-issue. Treasurer Wilson did not appear at the office today, but on his desk was a note containing confession of guilty knowledge of the fraudulent transaction. He left the city last night, it is alleged, in company with Henry V. Lesley, the former treasurer, under whose administration he over issue was made. WASHINGTON, June 30.—The President to-day nominated Hugh Smith

A conference of a joint committee appointed by the striking brick-mould-ers and the Brick-Makers' Association of Richmond and Manchester was held yesterday afternoon with reference to settling the existing differences between the two. It will be remembered that about the 1st of June the moulders in Manchester demanded an increase from Manchester demanded an increase from $4 to $5 for making 3,000 bricks, and, their demands not being acceded to, they went out on a strike. Those of Rocketts followed the example in a short time. In the conference yesterday the moulders stuck to their former demand and refused to agree to any other settlement-thus leaving the matter open as it has been for several weeks. The manufacturers maintain that the present prices and demand for bricks will not justify making the increase. The moulders, on the other hand, claim that they can only work during the summer months and that their wages are below those of other skilled workmen.

All of the yards of Richmond and Manchester are virtually idle except that of Mr. Rollins, who, on account of being under contract to build the Union depôt in a specified time, was granted permission by the Association to employ men at the advanced prices. Some of the yards have a few non-union men employed burning the bricks which were moulded before the strike begun.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

FRW YORK June 30.—The principal element affecting the market at present is undoubtedly the movement of gold out of the country. Bull leaders have of late oretended to attach little importance to it, but its effect was seen in the harding rate for money to day. The movement is in part accounted for by the return of high-class securities held in Kurops, till of late heavy inquiry for first-class bonds having run their prices to a high premium, which has tempted holders to seit. At the opening prices were firm and tay above last night. Pacific Mail was a consplenous exception, being down %. The general market was firm in the early trading and advances of small fractions were established, but these were generally lost in the afternoon, when the entire market yielded slightly; but it became steady and so closed, the changes from last tright's prices being insignificant. The late war in the Northwest is, in addition to the gold movement, a disturbing element. Norfolk and Western preferred was strong sil day and shows net gain of 1%. Sales, 177,000 shares.
